 Permanent
 state recognition SRH University Heidelberg is a state-recognised private university. It was first recognised in 1972 by a decision of the Baden-Württemberg Ministry of Science, Research and Arts. All degree programmes are accredited according to the provisions of the Federal State Higher Education Act (Landeshochschulgesetz). Our University is one of the few private institutions that enjoys permanent state recognition. Institutional Accreditation State of Baden-Wuerttemberg German Science Council ## Institutional recognition In 2003, SRH University Heidelberg became one of the first universities to successfully undergo the institutional accreditation procedure of the Wissenschaftsrat (the German Council of Science and Humanities). The Wissenschaftsrat is the most important advisory body in Germany for academic policymaking. Institutional accreditation demonstrates the University's scientific rigorousness in teaching and research. In July
 2009, the Wissenschaftsrat renewed its decision in a reaccreditation process.

Genius Loci Award ## The Genius Loci Award for Excellence in Teaching In 2018, Stifterverband and the Volkswagen Foundation honoured our teaching and learning model, the CORE Principle, with the Genius Loci Award, the only prize in Germany awarded for outstanding teaching to institutions. SRH University Heidelberg created theCORE Principle (Competence-Oriented Research and Education) in 2012 as a unique teaching and learning model based on cutting-edge scientific findings from pedagogy and brain research: students delve into a single topic for five weeks - harnessing their own responsibility and working in small groups, and coached by our lecturers. At the end of the five weeks, students are tested to see if they can put the skills they have learned into practice - for example, in the form of mock annual general meetings, presentations or exhibition concepts. Learn more about the CORE Principle Rankings ## Top Positions in University Rankings ## CHE Ranking SRH University Heidelberg received top marks from its students in the latest CHE University Rankings.
